

A home that runs on its own sunshine

A two-storey home: solar panels face south, the entrance faces east, and every light, fan, socket, the boundary lights and even the gate motor run on safe 48 V DC from the roof and battery.

Inside: everything runs on DC

